Announcement: Changing of the guard at Helvetic Investments as of February 14th 2017

Dear clients and business partners,

After more than 7 years since inception, Helvetic Investments' CEO Jens Westergaard has decided to leave the firm in order to pursue his personal interests. He has been instrumental in establishing Helvetic Investments in the region and developing the company to an independent boutique investment advisory company greatly respected by both its clients and partners in the local wealth industry.

We would like to sincerely thank Jens Westergaard for his dedication, commitment and professionalism in building Helvetic's business in the region to today's level and wish him satisfaction and success in his new endeavors!

At the same time we are very happy and fortunate to announce that Mr. Peter Stilli, a Swiss national with more than 10 years of experience in the Singaporean banking and family office business, will take over as the new CEO of Helvetic Investments as per February 14th 2017. Peter's most recent position has been as Executive Director at Bank Julius Baer (Singapore) & Co. Ltd. We are confident that with your support he will further enhance Helvetic's value proposition and will continue to grow and develop the brand in the region.
